

these are the questions what do concern my core being a lot questions what are pathing forward or inward towards a state of existence who would be only minimally consuming of what is given by fellow plants and animals... eventually what nilai experienced when the bats trusted her and flew so near to her body that some of their saliva dropped on her skin perhaps the bat saliva was at this time for nilai already nurturing like food, as she was already with ascende and permas chameleon human photosynthesis capabilities thanks to her baths in the rasip pools... and did she took up the butterfly essence from their wings possibly what would be some excellent fine information if one is ready at this moment to receive the bounty of a fellow planetary species and as always the thought comes up what possibly did the animals did take with... we have not yet looked into that enough to confirm the assumption that they would take with if not human qualities but the abilities of one's cells merging with cells of an other fellow animal and plant species if they profited from that possible blueprint of how species different cells can grow into each other most gentle smooth gradually, it would not mean that they would feel the need to actually translate this access to cosmic paths into their own personal or swarm flock species common behaviour i assume ... writes mansulei in his memoirs and viewback ...that there are a number of animals and plant slowly getting more intimate with this possibility... but then, it seems to be superstitious and too arrogant to believe that a's fantasy writing could describe a real animal and plant future evolution... i as mansulei can write how i understand the symbiotic androids and us multilives human as well as the sublenas... not too much i really understand about the deeper rules of how cells grow into each other... but my research is observing and documenting what i see and experience in a world or a fantastic realm where a the author could arrive in 10-50 years... as mansulei knew from ascende who is one of the authors main imposing projecting wishes for himself... but then, also my actions and the one of all the other 12 researcher friends is appealing to the author... in fact as he named himself in an artistic name androgynas... he very much liked to wish for himself a sexchange but one without scalpells and needle and thread... a sexchange what grew from inside and has the wish power to reform ones genitalia hips breasts and motherly organs... ascende told me once how he was in an other storyline also together with perma bathing in wildlife pools growing multispecies with lots of urine and cannabis flowers psilocybin mushrooms...he was then trying to grow himself into a female human to the core but enhanced with the same qualities we experience in this rasip appartement ah yes, mansulei that is me writing this ... the question... is psilocybin and thc really necessary or even helpfull... from our standpoint now in the future, yes, very helpfull but not necessary probably any plant essence or animal droppings might grow together in an non psychedelic growth environment, one would hope so as not all halluzinogenics grew everywhere on the planet... again a wild guess looking from the reality of the authors view of the world in the past from me mansulei writing this review of our friends research 5 years what possibly... ah that is too much of a sentence come on ... sorry... the thing is that this author does not do his learning quite seriously so that most of the future past uncertainties could be described as separate possible or really parallelly occurring actual future timelines.... like... the author could write with certainty deeper and fuller descriptions of the scenes when two species marry somehow... there might be a certain training factor here coming into play as the author likes many different paths outlined in a sketch... so this writing of 2014, kind of 60 000 words in 12 months on the ascende fantasy theme are a sketch, a writing exercise for an other book or fourth storyline where a or i or the author could bath into richer descriptions and give the reader some quality guided meditation like dream imagination background
